Latvia; Riga

Director of State Academic Drama Theater (former National Theater) in Riga; due to his participation at the Latv.Literature and Arts Decade in Moscow in Dec., '55, awarded with the order "Sign of Honor" (see Oina, 4 Jan., '56). - Presumably identical with BERGMANIS Arveds (see "Latv.Encyclop.", p.241) - who started as actor in Riga, then in 1907 in Liepāja, 1908-11 at the Dailes Theater in Moscow; came back to Riga and worked as play director of the school of STANISLAVSKY; 1918 head of a theater in Vjatka, Russia; 1921 in Moscow as an official at the Theater Dept. of Commissariat of Education; in 1922 in Georgia, Russia, later an official in Siberia; his daughter is the actress ZĪLE Marianna (from "Latv.Encyclop."). - According to KV (c.3141), V.B. is of the same age as A.ANTMANIS-BRIEDĪTIS (c.1185) but was not considered as an actor of the greatness of ANTMANIS Teodors (c.7970); during the Civil War of Soviet Russia V.B. remained in USSR and did not come back to Latvia even later; it was told that V.B. was active in USSR also in CP work; in 1940/41 many expected that V.B. would return to Latvia but he did not arrive, only after WW II; his wife, a physician who worked during free Latvia in Gulbene, got separated (or divorced) in 1905 and died of cancer while as DP in West Germany after WW II; his daughter Marianna was an actress at the National Theater in Riga - in 1940/41 she got better over roles because of her father though the latter did not arrive in Riga. (C).
